SOUTH HUNTINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY
SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 2012 FROM 1-4 P.M.

Join us for a Local Author Fair at the South Huntington Public Library. This will be a great opportunity for authors to promote their published work, connect with new and established fans and talk shop with other authors.

Writers of all genres are welcome to apply — fiction, non-fiction, adult, young adult and children's; self-published authors are OK. Participating authors will be permitted to sell their books.

Space is limited, so apply now. Based on the number of applications received, the library reserves the right to limit participation by selecting a representative sample of types of work.

Applications must be received by Wednesday, February 15, 2012. Authors selected to participate will be notified by Friday, March 2, 2012. For more information, call Catherine Schmoller at 631.549.4411 or e-mail cschmol@suffolk.lib.ny.us.

LOCAL AUTHOR FAIR

SOUTH HUNTINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY
SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 2012 FROM 1-4 P.M.

- The South Huntington Public Library (SHPL) will provide each author with one table and two chairs. The author is responsible for tablecloths, cash boxes, signs and any other items they wish to use. We do not have the ability to accommodate banners, posters or other wall and ceiling hangings. Display boards should fit in the confines of your table space.
- Authors are responsible for their money, personal items and products. SHPL is not responsible for lost, stolen or damaged items.
- SHPL will not provide change, cash boxes or credit card readers for authors selling their books. We do not have the ability to accommodate credit card transactions unless your unit operates wirelessly. If you choose to accept electronic payments, the setup and configuration of the machine is the author's responsibility. No technical support will be provided.

Please sign and return one copy of this application to the library.
